PAYDEN CORPORATE BOND FUND SI CLASS (PYCTX)

Payden Funds

SEPTEMBER 30, 2025

Investment Strategy

The Payden Corporate Bond Fund's strategy is to purchase investment-grade corporate bonds of companies that have leading market positions, strong cash flow generation, stable management teams and predictable earnings. The strategy's focus is on bottom-up credit selection with an emphasis placed on adding issues with a near-term catalyst to outperform. Our credit research process looks to capitalize on opportunities in the corporate bond market across sectors and maturities; including the early identification of potential rising stars - companies that we believe will be upgraded to investment grade in the near term. A forward-looking approach is taken to credit analysis. A priority is placed on assessing a company's future trajectory and the corresponding risk and opportunities for bondholders under various scenarios. Up to 20% of fund assets may be below investment grade.

Fund Highlights

- » The fund is a well-diversified portfolio of U.S. dollar investment-grade corporate securities backed by extensive in-house credit research.
- » It invests in credits across the full maturity spectrum and its duration and curve positioning are actively managed.
- » The fund has the flexibility to opportunistically invest in below investment-grade securities and emerging-market debt.
- » No loads (other fees apply).
- » The value of an investment will generally fall when interest rates rise.

Market

» In September, U.S. Treasury yields initially moved materially lower as investors digested softer-thanexpected economic data, including Purchasing Managers Index (PMI) and consumer sentiment, while labor market concerns continued to grow. However, following the Federal Reserve's (Fed's) first 0.25% rate cut of the year, there was a series of economic data, such as retail sales, that proved to be resilient, which drove U.S. Treasury yields higher.

- » Concluding September, the 2-year U.S. Treasury yield slipped 0.01% to 3.61%, while the 10-year yield fell by 0.08% to 4.15%. Demand for corporate bonds remained robust, with 1- to 30-year corporate yields over similar-maturity U.S. Treasuries narrowing 0.05% to 0.74%. As a result, the overall yield on 1- to 30-year corporate bonds fell 0.10% to 4.81%.
- » Primary supply for September finished at $212 billion, resulting in year-to-date supply totals of $1.3 trillion, which is up 2% compared to the same time last year.

Outlook

- » During the month, the Fund incrementally increased risk as demand for corporate bonds remained strong. It actively participated in newly issued bonds, adding exposure to the utilities and financials sectors, including banks and finance companies. The Fund also continued to add out-of-index exposure within high-yield and securitized products. To fund these purchases, the Fund reduced positions in the basics, capital goods, and technology sectors. Duration remained modestly long relative to the benchmark.
- » We believe corporate bonds can continue to perform well into year-end, supported by a strong technical bid for credit as investors seek to secure these attractive yields ahead of further Fed rate cuts. Corporate fundamentals remain generally solid; however, we are closely monitoring potential risks such as margin pressure from tariffs.
- » This environment is likely to present both increased risks and opportunities, making careful credit selection and tactical positioning essential to navigating evolving global trade negotiations and macroeconomic trends.
